Sideways trend persists

Market Review & Outlook

- Malaysia Market Review. The FBM KLCI (-0.19%) ended on a weak note on the final day of the trading year as investors remained at the sidelines while waiting for new catalyst. The lower liners also extended their pullback, except for FBM ACE which rallied strongly. The utilities sector (+1.39%) outperformed the sectoral peers as investors turned defensive in anticipation of market volatility.
- Global Markets Review. The US stock markets ended last Friday on a subdued note due to profit taking and rebalancing activities. European stock markets advanced, while Asian stock markets registered declines, except for China where gains were led by Chinese tech counters.
- Market Outlook. As we enter 2024, we remained optimistic on the local bourse as we anticipate ongoing expansion in market breadth throughout the new year. Nonetheless, we will closely monitor comments from various Federal Reserve speakers regarding potential rate cuts ahead of January's meeting. Our preference continues to lean towards the technology sector, driven by significant support from the macro environment including the potential for reduced borrowing costs and the rise of artificial intelligence. In addition to that, we also hold a positive outlook on the construction sector as we foresee the government to roll out several massive infrastructure projects to stimulate the local economy.

FBM KLCI Technical Review & Outlook

Source: Bloomberg

• Technical Commentary: The FBM KLCI edged lower on the last trading day of 2023 after the key index failed to beat the resistance of 1,465 points which capped since July 2023. Indicators were mixed as the MACD Line crossed below its signal line while the RSI was sideways above 50. Due to the lack of catalyst, the benchmark index could remain flat below the near-term resistance of 1,465. Immediate support is at 1,430.
